

Welcome to the EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS DATE NIGHT CHALLENGE!!

Congratulations on taking this admirable step toward getting your family prepared! Dedicating a month's worth of date nights to this cause is incredibly awesome of you! Get ready for some major productivity, a serious sense of accomplishment, and even a little bit of fun along the way!
Your month of date nights has officially begun...

What to Expect

Each week you will receive a printable date night in your inbox from PlanForAwesome.com, so make sure to mark melanie@planforawesome.com as a safe sender so it doesn't go to your junk mail.

Each date night will have things to talk about, things to do, printables to fill out, and decisions to make about small purchases that may be needed. There will also be a follow-up from the week before, if any items were needed in order to complete the previous week's tasks.

What You Will Need

1. Subscribe to planforawesome.com if you haven't already (you must confirm your subscription to receive the date nights)
2. Mark melanie@planforawesome.com as a SAFE SENDER in your email account
3. 2ish hours (give or take) blocked out for each date night to accomplish the tasks. These need to be ON YOUR CALENDAR! No cheating. Schedule it in! These 2 hour chunks of time need to be AT YOUR HOUSE. If you have young kids, a kid swap would be ideal here - take your kids to a friend's house for a couple hours, and then come back to your empty house for your date night. Then return the favor to them, so they can do the same :)
4. The entire Date Night PDF, printed (you will receive 2 PDFs for each date night - one will be color and one black and white...print whichever you'd like)
5. If you have a clipboard, that may come in handy, depending on the date night. It's not a huge deal, but if you have one, go ahead and grab it.
6. Pen
